Its Glory Gone.

In one of the finest cities of our west there lives a certain man who has been prominent all his life in the work of building and managing theaters. He has been too busy at this to have much time for reading. When his pile was made he started for Europe and visited the various countries. Among other cities he took in Rome. It chanced that he drove out in the country and was shown the Coliseum. The guide told him it was a theater. The old man was surprised. When he came back he was saked about his trip; he mentioned Rome. Naturally he was asked if he had seen the Coliseum. He had. He didn't think much of it. To quote his own words: "It was a blamed good house ones, but it's in ruins now."—Detroit Free Press.

HOBART IS DEAD

The Vice President Succumbs to a Lingering Riness.

His Funeral Took Place at Pater son, N. J., on Saturday-Senator Frye, of Maine, Will Preside Over the Senate Until Murch 4, 1801.

Paterson, N. J., Nov. 22.—Vice President Hobart died at 8:30 a. m. Tues day. The family and physicians were at Mr. Hobart's bedside when he expired. The vice president had been failing since late Monday afternoon although the reports given out at the were that he was holding own.

VICE PRESIDENT GARRET A. HO-BART.

Mr. Hobart was born in Monmouth county, N. J., June 2, 1844. He entered Rutgers college in 1860 and graduated in 1863. Thereafter he taught school until he entered the law office of Socrates Tuttle, of Paterson, He was admitted to the bar in N. J. 1869 and began the practice of law with Mr. Tuttle. He became the clerk of the grand jury in 1865 and was ap-pointed city counsel of Paterson in 1871. He was elected counsel for the board of chosen freeholders in 1872 1871. and was elected to the legislature in He was re-elected to the as-1873. sembly in 1874 and was made speaker in 1876. He entered the senate of New Jersey in 1879 and in 1881 was elected speaker of that body. In 1876 New Jersey sent him as a delegate-at-large to the national republican con-vention and again in 1880 the same honor was bestowed upon him. He was elected a member of the national republican committee in 1884 and served continuously upon that body until 1896, when he was nominated for the vice presidency of the United States.

By the death of Mr. Hobart Senator William P. Frye, of Maine, becomes president pro tem of the senate and will discharge all the duties of the vice president as presiding officer of that body. The senate rules provide that no election is necessary at the beginning of the session. Senator Frye acofficer till the end of President McKin-ley's administration, unless he chooses to resign, or the senate wishes to elecanother senator to the office.

A curious coincidence of the death of Vice President Hobart is found in the fact that of the six vice presidents who have died in office four died within a few days of the same day of the month, the death of Mr. Hobart being the 21st of November, 1899; that of Mr. Wilson the 22d of November, 1875; that of Elbridge Gerry, November 23, 1814, and that of Mr. Hendricks November 25, 1885. The other two vice presidents who died in office were Clinton and King. The former died April 20, 1812, and the latter April 17,

By law the succession to the presidency of the United States in the event of vacancy falls upon the vice presi-dent, and in the event of the latter's death, to the secretary of state, the next in line being the secretary of the treasury, then the secretary of war, and down through the list of cabinet officers in order of precedent fixed by act of congress when the death of Vice President Hendricks disclosed the ecessity of such a provision.

New York, Nov. 25.—The scenes at Carroll hall yesterday when the re-mains of Mr. Hobart were lying in state were very pathetic. Long before the time announced for the opening of the doors of the Hobart home to the pubhe the crowd began to assemble, and when the first rush toward the main entrance began 5,000 persons were crowded into Ellison and Carroli Lines were formed by a squad of police, but the force was too small to maintain order. Women were in the majority. Fully 12,000 persons saw the remains in the four ours they were exposed to view.

Paterson, N. J., Nov. 27 .- With the religious services of the Presbyterian church and with the diguity due to his high office, all that is mortal of Vice President Hobart was committed to the tomb Saturday afternoon. The the tomb saturday afternoon. The president, secretary of state, Chief Justice Fuller, Secretary Hitcheock, the supreme court judges, members of the senate and house and the vice president's personal friends filled the Church of the Redeemer and testical chief the characteristics of the senate and testical chief the senate and testical chief the senate and testical chief the senate to the sen fied silently to his worth as a statesman. The cortege wended its way to Cedar Lawn cemetery, where the body was placed in a receiving vault.

Columbus, Nov. 21.-The official returns were made public last night. Ever since election day Secretary of State Kinney has had expert acco ants at work making the totals, and owing to the delay in many counties, where tangled factional conditions in-duced voters to scratch their tickets, the returns did not all get in until late yesterday afternoon. The totals were then hastily made, and the folyesterday lowing is the result:

Columbus, Nov. 22.—State Treasurer Campbell has filed his annual report with the governor for the fiscal year ending November 15. It shows the financial condition of the state to be much better than usual. There is a larger eash balance on nand than at the end of any year since 1880, and besides the county settlements have not been anticipated. The total balance in the general revenue funu is $1,033;-632. At this time last year it was only $604,626. It has not exceeded $500,000 in 20 years preceding last year. The total balance of all funds in the
